

Expert Staff, Great Clients & $160K Cash Surplus

Located in a very well established yet growing community, I am excited to present an opportunity for you to purchase a long-standing travel agency known for its exceptional levels of service.

Renowned for being New Zealand owned and operated, this business stands out as being completely customer focused by offering a high level of customer service and giving back to the community.

Backed by a New Zealand owned and operated co-op, this business has strategic national campaign planning and delivery taken care of along with the support of a group of likeminded travel professionals. This leaves room to focus on the local area for their own store level marketing. Local store marketing and their support of various community groups generates constant new business as the area offers a diverse mix of clientele including popular beach towns.

The current owner firmly believes that an increased focus on these types of marketing initiatives will capitalise on the steady growth the area has been experiencing.
