

Profitable IT business with Large Passive Income

Established 6 years ago, this web hosting, software development and design business has produced a cash surplus of over $360,000 for the financial year 2012 and is on track to repeat for 2013.

Serving specific industries with well-established customers, this is an ideal add on to an existing website development company. The well serviced and looked after client base is primed and ready for an easy and smooth transition to a new owner as the current Vendor's other business ventures are pressing.

A significant portion of revenue is passive, recurring income that requires little staff input. A fantastic opportunity to add to or expand this successful business model can be yours by negotiation.
