

Profitable Signage Business For Sale – Leader In Its Field!

This business has been successfully operating for 26 years and the owners are ready to step back and enjoy the financial rewards it has provided. This well-respected business prides itself on being a leader in the industry, operating professionally and with strong principles. The staff are very experienced at what they do and their capabilities well-regarded by their competitors.

A new owner may benefit from a business ready for expansion nationally, with a growing list of corporate, national, and other companies requiring their services more frequently. The business has a wide range of capabilities that are gaining exposure and creating more demand in other major centres of New Zealand.

The business is seeking an active leader who possesses sound business acumen, strong communication skills, and possibly some practical knowledge in the building sector (although this is not critical). The ideal candidate should also be a solutions-oriented person and, above all, capable of listening to and taking advice from experienced staff or outside advisors when necessary.
