

Established Electrical Engineering Business with Proprietary, Scalable IP

An opportunity to acquire a long-established electrical engineering business with over 25 years of operating history, servicing local councils, public authorities, business associations, and large commercial organisations throughout New Zealand.

The business specialises in the design, installation, integration, and ongoing maintenance of complex electrical systems in public and commercial environments. It operates at a scale and level of technical capability that is difficult to replicate, supported by long-standing institutional clients and a strong reputation for compliance, reliability, and engineering quality.

The business has developed internal methodologies that support long-term maintenance contracts and recurring service revenue, creating meaningful barriers to entry.

Beyond its core engineering operations, the business owns fully developed proprietary intellectual property that enhances and supports its services. The IP is wholly owned, commercially proven, and has clear potential for international scaling, including future productisation, licensing and global
