

Established Automotive Dismantling & Spare Parts Business

An excellent opportunity to acquire a long-established automotive dismantling and used parts business operating from a substantial industrial site in Auckland.

The business specialises in late-model Japanese vehicles and supplies a broad range of quality second-hand automotive parts to mechanical workshops, panel beaters, insurance-aligned repair networks, and retail customers nationwide. It has been operating for more than 26 years, including 16 years under current ownership, and enjoys strong brand recognition and repeat trade demand.

A key feature of the business is its extensive inventory, with close to 30,000 items in stock, a significant proportion of which are carried at zero cost value. This structure provides a clear margin advantage and supports consistent cashflow. Inventory is well managed through an established industry software system, enabling efficient tracking, pricing, and fulfilment.

The operation is well systemised, with proven dismantling, warehousing, and sales processes in place, supported by an experienced team. The business operates from a large approximately 5,000 sqm leased site, allowing for efficient vehicle processing, high stock capacity, and future expansion.

Growth opportunities exist through increased vehicle purchasing, further optimisation of online parts platforms, deeper insurance network relationships, and improved operational throughput.

The vendors are committed to providing a structured handover and post-sale support, making this an ideal acquisition for an existing industry operator, trade buyer, or investor seeking scale in the automotive parts sector.

Asking Price: $500,000.
