

Profitable Engineering Business – Priced to sell

Established and consistently profitable, this Taranaki engineering business generates average owner's earnings of approximately $500,000 and has built a strong reputation for delivering quality engineering solutions to industrial clients.

The business provides a comprehensive range of design, fabrication and installation services, supported by an experienced, trade-qualified team and well-established systems. A loyal customer base, repeat business and long-standing client relationships provide a solid platform for ongoing performance.

Operating from well-positioned premises, the business is well equipped and structured for continued success. The current owner is committed to supporting a smooth transition and is willing to remain as part of the team if desired.

Priced to sell, this opportunity will appeal to existing engineering businesses looking to expand, strategic buyers seeking additional capability, or qualified engineers ready to step into an established and profitable operation.
