

Strategic – Ocean Energy & Desalination Platform with Engineering Base

Expressions of Interest

A strategic investment opportunity is available combining an established engineering services business with a validated, pre deployment ocean energy and desalination platform.

The core business generates consistent revenue through specialised design, fabrication, installation, and maintenance across marine, industrial, and energy sectors, providing operational stability and in house delivery capability.

This is complemented by a proprietary wave energy and offshore desalination system (TRL 7–8), now positioned at the transition from technical validation to initial commercial deployment.

The investment enables participation at a key inflection point, where capital is applied to support first deployments, establish reference installations, and unlock subsequent institutional and project level participation.

This dual structure provides:

- Immediate operating capability and revenue base

- Direct exposure to emerging power and water infrastructure demand
- A pathway from engineering led execution to scalable platform deployment

The opportunity is best suited to:

- Strategic industrial, marine, or energy operators
- Energy transition and early infrastructure investors
- Capital partners aligned with government adjacent or resilience infrastructure deployment

This is not a conceptual technology investment, but a platform positioned for execution, where value is expected to be realised through deployment rather than further technical development.
