

Floors & The Gem in Bay of Plenty

Picture this: a booming coastal region, a trade brand with a stack of five-star reviews and a pipeline booked 8-12 weeks deep, PLUS a high-margin e-commerce brand just hitting its stride. Sound too good to be true? It isn't.

Eight years in the making, this business has become one of the most reviewed timber flooring specialists in the Bay of Plenty, built on genuine craftsmanship, not a franchise agreement. That's right, independently owned, which means NO franchise fees, NO royalties and NO restrictions on where it can grow.

And here's the part that changes everything. Tucked inside is a direct-to-consumer cleaning products brand, launched just months ago and already turning heads: margins above 70%, a live subscription model, wholesale interest from a major hardware retailer, and export enquiries out of Australia. Still in its first innings, the upside here is enormous for the right buyer.

The numbers back it up. Turnover has climbed from circa $570,000 to a projected $920,000 in just three years, with EBPIDT growing to over $340,000, a business improving right up to the point of sale. All of this in one of New Zealand's
