

Online Biz, Easily Run, Flexible Work From Home

This e-commerce sales business has been successfully selling New Zealand wide for the last 5 years. With a customer base of approximately 25,000 and around 10,000 currently active, the business is very easily run with flexible hours to suit the owner and of course you will have the added advantage of working from home if you choose to. How much space will you need at home? With the current range the space required would be approximately the equivalent of a double garage. There is an excellent website and an associated online sales system in place which has been specifically designed and developed for the business allowing for ongoing development and growth of the business without further significant costs to support that growth. We are advised that there is very real opportunity for a new owner to easily extend the product lines and/or the business could also be easily integrated into another online sales business. Asking Price Only $80,000 plus SAV.
